INDICES OF ECONOMIC ACTIVITY

Preface

With the current number of “Indices of Economic Activity”, the National Statistics Institute is publishing the main results of the monthly economic surveys begun in January 2004.

The purpose of this publication is to report the general short term evolution of homogenous indicators of the real sector of the economy in the form of structured indices according to the Classification of Economic Activities in Mozambique (CAE Rev. 1).

This issue presents consistent data that it was possible to obtain by the closing date for this edition in the sectors of industry, energy, trade and services (transports, ports, airports, accommodation, restaurants and other services).

The data presented here are provisional, subject to alteration in following editions, as a result of the improved coverage it is hoped to achieve, and also because of the methodological improvements that will be introduced.

Efforts are being made to improve coverage and the quality of the replies from the statistical units covered by the surveys, as well as to refine the methodology.

Explanations on coverage, methodologies and other matters may be obtained from the Director of Sector and Company Statistics.

1. COVERAGE

1.1. Industry

In the industrial area, the units involved in extractive or manufacturing industry, classified respectively in Sections C and D of CAE Rev. 1, are covered.

Section C of the CAE defines as extractive industries, in addition to the extraction of products from nature (solid, liquid and gaseous), transformation and beneficiation undertaken at the place of extraction, such as refining salt, heaping coal and ore, associated with or independent of their extraction.

For its part, Section D of the CAE defines manufacturing industries as those that produce goods and services. Industrial services undertaken by third parties are individualised in activities. Major repairs and maintenance (repair and maintenance of capital goods) arise in general from the activities in which goods are physically produced

1.2. Energy

Activities linked to the energy sector are classified in Section E of the CAE Rev. 1, which defines the production and distribution of electricity, gas and water, including the units whose activities cover, apart from the production and distribution of electricity, gas and water, some specific services (e.g. treatment of water) and the production of ice.

This publication is only concerned with the production and distribution of electricity and natural gas. The production and distribution of water are areas not yet subject to measurement by the INE, but this may occur in the future.

1.3. Trade

Trade is classified in Section G of the CAE Rev. 1 and covers all forms of domestic trade, as well as the agents of trade. It also includes trade that is not undertaken in establishments (by correspondence, stalls, fairs, automatic distribution, etc.).

Improvements in coverage in this Section will be introduced so that future editions may better reflect trade not undertaken in establishments.

1.4. Services

The area of Services covers all the units whose activities are classified in various sections of the CAE rev. 1, namely:

Section H – Accommodation and Restaurants, which corresponds to short stay accommodation and includes both hotels and other short stay accommodation, as well as restaurants and similar establishments, covering restaurants proper, other eating houses, bars and similar places where food and drink are consumed, in general on the spot, as well as canteens and the supply of meals to be eaten at home (catering).

Section I – Transport, Storage and Communications which may result from collective or individual (e.g. taxi) provision of services, as well as hiring a means of transport with a driver. It also includes, apart from transport proper, a wide range of activities more or less associated with transport (storage, cargo handling, management of transport infrastructures, travel agencies, organisation of transport, etc.), postal and telecommunication activities (transport of information without processing the information).

Section K – Real estate activity, Hiring and Services provided to companies which includes a wide range of activities in the sphere of services: real estate activity: (e.g. purchase, sale, renting, administration and mediation of real estate); leasing of fixed assets without staff; computer and connected activities (including the maintenance and repair of computer equipment); research and development; a variety of services provided mainly to companies (e.g. legal, engineering, architecture, advertising, etc.)

Section M – Education which includes, apart from education at all levels and all forms, driving schools, professional training and artistic education.

This edition only covers the units belonging to the private sector.

Section N – Health, which covers human and animal health activities.

This edition only covers the units belonging to the private sector.

Section O – Other Activities of Collective, Social and Personal Services which covers a range of activities in the sphere of collective, social and personal services, namely sanitation, public hygiene, production, distribution and projection of films and videos, radio and television, news agencies, libraries and archives, theatre, music and other artistic and literary activities, lotteries and other games of chance, washing and dry cleaning of textiles and skins, hairdressers and beauty salons, funeral and connected activities, etc.

2. TREATMENT OF FAILURES TO RESPOND

All the statistical units that have not replied to the monthly surveys by the date of closure of data processing are treated as failures to respond.

3. CALCULATION OF THE INDICES

Index

This is the ratio between a particular value observed for the variable, known as the current value, and another value taken for comparison, known as the base value.

In order to facilitate comparisons, by using percentages, this value is multiplied by 100.

After completing the 2004 annual series, as from January 2005 the base period taken is the 2004 annual average.

Rates of Variation

The rates of variation, or simply variation, allow us to understand the evolution of a particular variable, starting from the value taken at the moment regarded as the base period

The following variations will be gradually inserted: monthly variation in series, accumulated monthly variation, average monthly variation, and homologous variation.

4. CONCEPTS

Business Volume

The business volume is the total value invoiced, with VAT excluded, by the statistical units observed during the period of reference.

Employment

Employment refers to the people who, during the reference period, took part in the activities of the company/institution, regardless of the duration of this participation.

Remuneration

This refers to the gross amount in money or in kind paid to the workers who are included in the concept of “staff on duty” for the hours of work provided, or for the work undertaken during the normal period and overtime. It also includes payment for hours remunerated but not worked (leave, public holidays and other paid absences), and subsidies of a regular nature (food, function, housing or transport subsidies, length of service bonuses, awards for productivity, punctuality and work outside of the normal timetable, extra pay for heavy, dangerous or dirty work, and subsidies for shift work and night shifts).

5. MISCELLANEOUS

Further details on methodology may be consulted in a specific manual to be published shortly, and by contacting the Directorate of Sector and Company Statistics.
